INTRODUCTION BY CAS

As I write this introduction I know that I have been awakened from the cosmic slumber I have resided in for the majority of my life. Like many of those around me, I was caught up in life's daily encounters, never giving much thought to what my beliefs were or why I had them. But all of that started to change after 9-11. In the aftermath of those events I was left with an intense feeling of vulnerability within the borders of a country I once believed to be invincible. I couldn't understand how this could have happened because like others I wasn't paying attention.

My story begins when my sister sent me a book on past lives. I enjoyed reading this material and began to wonder what I might have done in a past life. Wouldn't it be interesting to see what I had accomplished or not accomplished? I also hoped that in some past life I could discover the reason why I couldn't get myself motivated to do my art. I have artistic talent and we had just finished constructing a studio for me to work in yet I was not painting. I figured that if I could get to the root of the problem I could make some progress in my painting, so I found a Hypnotherapist and made an appointment. During my first hypnosis session I experienced what seemed to be a life in the 1920's and the death that ended that existence. Toward the end of the session, I felt myself surrounded by peaceful warmth and I was acutely aware of an energy presence, as though there was someone there with me in spirit form. That session lasted about three hours. Then during the second session something happened that changed my life forever. I became aware of my soul and the unbelievable bliss that surrounds it. The intense love was so powerful that I began laughing with joy. Since then I have had many positive changes in my life. I now know that life is just an experience and that death is not to be feared.

While in a euphoric state towards the end of the second session, I began to speak in a different language. I found out later it was called Sumari. At first I had no idea what I was saying, seemingly answering questions and asking them as well. Some time into it I perceived my own thoughts also coming out in Sumari. I was stunned by this, having never learned any other language in this life but English. Since then I have sung songs in Sumari and have been able to speak this language whenever I choose, though it usually occurs during meditation. I have been told that in Sumari there is a wealth of information available to me to give to others and that I should focus on learning how to translate it. Because I don't know of any others who speak this language this may be a difficult project, however I am determined to give it a try.

All during this time I had the feeling that I was being guided to these experiences. I became curious about my soul-self and began meditating daily, always going to that favorite place, in between lives. While in this state I began having lengthy conversations with someone and one day I finally asked him to tell me his name. He identified himself as Seth. Such an ordinary name, I thought to myself. I thought I would be communicating with someone with a more cosmic name.

At the time, I was still looking for a Hypnotherapist in my area to continue the past life regressions. Mark had a unique ad in the phone book and so I gave him a call. (I was later to find out that Seth had actually arranged this meeting.) I met Mark at his office and had my first couple of sessions. I didn't want to tell him right away about Seth. I wanted to make sure that he was open-minded enough to hear it. Then on the day of our third session I was shopping for a book on how to increase my psychic abilities. Since I was communicating with this entity, I thought I should try to develop some better skills. I picked up a book on the subject matter and then out of habit turned to the back pages to see what other books the author recommended. And there it was: Seth Speaks. My heart was pounding. Could this be my Seth? I immediately looked for the recommended book and there on the shelf in front of me I found it: Seth Speaks. My hands were shaking as I picked up the book. I became even more nervous as I read his short introduction and realized that I had tapped into something that I might not be ready for.

You see, throughout my life I have been heavily conditioned to stay within the boundaries of conservative thinking. It seemed each time I tried to break free, someone would rope me back in. So taking a risk, I bought the book, got into my car and began reading. As I scanned the pages, I noticed that these ideas were similar to what Seth had been saying to me. It made me all the more curious, wondering to myself, who is this guy and why have I never heard of him? Seth Speaks was written back in my hippie days and I figured I should have at least heard something about him. But then again, I wasn't "awake" back then. I wasn't in the habit of reading this type of material. (Incidentally, Seth has confirmed to me that there were other reasons why I was not exposed to his material in those days.)

That afternoon I met with Mark and asked him if he had ever heard of Seth. Mark said he had heard of him and asked me if I could bring him forward in hypnosis. So we began that session bringing forth Seth. Mark was apparently very familiar with the Seth material and he proceeded to ask all of the appropriate confirming questions. The Seth that I had been talking to was indeed coming through under hypnosis, talking through me and identifying himself as the same Seth who had written many books years ago. We soon discovered that Seth was quite good at conveying his messages and he was interested in writing about the events of 9-11. Now, I enjoy doing the hypnosis as I find it quite relaxing, but here I was going to have this entity or energy personality as he calls himself speaking through me? This was very frightening to me yet also very interesting. I felt that I had to keep an open mind about it and decided that if he wished to say something then at least we should listen and write it down.

For the first few sessions with Mark, I went through the hypnotic procedure convinced that this was a necessary step to get me relaxed, but soon found out that Seth had other ideas. Seth told me we would do a session and while under hypnosis I would open my eyes and try to stay focused. And it worked. I was able to open my eyes and Seth continued talking. I remember this eye-opening session so well. It was as though I was sitting on the side of myself as Seth began to scan the room and make his observations. It was such an odd feeling to be both in and out of the room. We did a couple more sessions and then one day Seth told me we didn't need the full hypnotic procedure. He said, "You can do it." The next session I was prepared to lie down again but Seth just came through and opted for the chair. From that time on I sat in a chair and Seth communicated to Mark face-to-face.

Much of the information Seth dictated to Mark I do not remember. I could hear him speak, but it was if I was in an echo chamber hearing a louder, deeper version of my voice. I would get a fuzzy feeling in my eyes and Mark would look somewhat out of focus. Then I knew Seth was present. In the beginning, I experienced many different sensations that I came to find out later were all part of Seth's adjustments to make the contact with me easier. It was an awkward feeling knowing that someone else was sharing my space with me. Often he would talk to me throughout the day, sometimes at night when I was resting and listening to him and even in the dream state. I felt as though large blocks of information were being filtered into my brain, information that I never would have been able to conceive of with my extremely limited knowledge of this subject matter.

Since Seth has entered my life, many of my barriers have been broken down. I have been opened up to other dimensions of reality and have known a deep inner peace. I can now look at my fellow humans with a greater understanding of our intimate relationships with each other on this planet. Currently, Seth has begun dictating another book through me. There is a vast amount of knowledge that he wishes to give to humanity and as long as he keeps speaking I will do my best to pass it along.

INTRODUCTION BY MARK

During my final few weeks in graduate school I had a lot on my plate: struggling to put together a final paper so that I could indeed graduate, continuing to counsel a full caseload of clients at the school and trying to drum up business for my private hypnotherapy practice. I was looking forward to taking a few weeks off after graduation and maybe go to Maui with my girlfriend Carol or just hang out at the house and relax. But when a woman contacted me and said she would like to do some “past lives” work, I was intrigued. I was eager to strengthen my skills in this popular subspecialty of hypnotherapy. The woman made an appointment for the next week and we met at my office. This new client had a sparkle in her eye and an active sense of humor. She also had an aura of familiarity about her that puzzled me. We had an initial session and hit it off immediately. She seemed to anticipate my questions and I hers and in a couple of sessions we developed a rapport, as though we had been working together for some time. Looking back, I have to say that there was something other-worldly about those first meetings in my cramped but cute little office. It sounds like a cliché but it’s true: I didn’t know it then, but my life was about to take a dramatic, mind-bending turn.

Shortly before our third session my new client phoned me and asked, “Have you ever heard of Seth? I’m receiving communications from someone who calls himself Seth.” I almost dropped the phone in shock but I replied nonchalantly something like, “Yes, I know a little about Seth.” I felt as though I had something to protect. Seth was a valuable part of my private life as a seeker, as a student of the healing arts. I had studied the Seth material for many years and like some of his more dedicated readers, I guarded that relationship fiercely. But here I suspected someone was playing a prank on me. It seemed somehow impossible that this fellow would be speaking again after all these years and speaking through a client of mine, no less. It just looked like a setup. Nonetheless, excited but doubtful, I made an appointment to do another regression with my client and attempt to contact this spirit who claimed he was Seth.

And to my amazement, the third session with my new client became the first Seth session. From my home library I brought a few of my favorite Seth books and placed them on my office bookshelf, to make him feel at home if he were indeed to make an appearance. My client arrived and I turned on the video camera to document the proceedings. I relaxed my new client and inducted her with some traditional hypnotic suggestions while she rested on the couch. Unbelievably, twenty minutes into the session, she “found” Seth and in a few moments he was speaking through her on a variety of subjects. I was, to put it mildly, impressed. I felt like jumping up and gleefully hopping around the office like a little kid, making strange noises as they do. This appeared to be the Seth who dictated Seth Speaks and other famous texts. His energy was palpable and filled the room. His love for humans and his sense of humor was evident and he kidded me good-naturedly throughout the hour and a half session. Somehow I had the presence of mind to ask a few probing questions, testing to see if this was an elaborate hoax or some sort of psychological anomaly. I asked if he was the Seth who spoke through a woman who first communicated with him through a Ouiji board. My client as Seth answered in the affirmative, with a pleasant smile. I asked several pointed questions about his creative endeavors with his first subject and her husband. He gave me immediate, specific replies suggesting that he knew what he was talking about. Some of the material was information I had never heard before and this certainly was not information my new client could have known. She claimed to know nothing of the Seth material and I believed her. And she was hypnotized after all, exhibiting the classic physical signs of the hypnotic state. For a large part of the session, Seth discussed some local public health matters and gave me instructions on how to begin to resolve them. I was in an altered state myself as I struggled to contain the enormity of this, the implications of this experience.

In the next few sessions, Seth planned his return to publishing after what he called his “sabbatical” of 18 years. The new material would serve to “enlighten the minds” of readers, assisting them on their unique paths of learning in this chaotic era. Seth prepared us for our adventure by putting the book material “into our heads” as we slept. We also were able to communicate with him throughout the day telepathically if we wished. Cas is a natural at this but it took me a few weeks to pick out his voice from my chorus of internal dialogues. I finally succeeded and was quite gratified to “hear” Seth’s eloquent answers to my pitifully mundane questions on business and personal matters.

Now I know this probably sounds like it’s time to call community mental health on Mark and bring him in for an evaluation, but consider this: I have just completed five years of academic instruction and training in psychology. I can identify the classic syndromes and I know what mental illness looks like, at least what we currently label as mental illness, and this is not mental illness. On the contrary, what I am experiencing is mental functioning at its healthiest, though admittedly at its rarest. This is the peak of mental health. Yet I would not be completely honest if I were to claim that there were no episodes of psychic whitewater. It is a confrontational challenge to the ego, so enamored with consensus reality, to as Seth suggests, “just open up to the multidimensional existence of your soul.” That’s a tall order, at least for me, though I am gradually getting better at it. At times I feel as though I am coming undone, and this may be a good thing. The psychic armor is cracking and falling away. I’m becoming a great deal more open and accepting. In a way, it’s like extending your peripheral vision until you can see behind you. Seth's exercises help us to exercise our soul's perception, allowing us a glimpse of the unknown reality.

So Seth has returned and it appears that he is going to stay awhile and write some books, though possibly not in the identical style that made him famous and this may cause some concern. I don't feel the need to comment on this new creative tack he has taken other than to say I'm enjoying it and learning from it more and more as I read and absorb the material. As is always the case with Seth's work, at least it seems to me, the material speaks for itself. Of all the "philosophical" reading I've done his has the loudest ring of truth and I've heard countless other readers comment similarly. Curious readers can compare his prose in 9/11 with other works printed more than twenty years ago. The same metaphors are there, the same cadence, the same subtle wit. And though he has spoken with an ardent flare, his current message is much more urgent.

Seth wanted me to tell the reader that he has returned to restate the facts-of-life for us so that we will not make critical mistakes that may doom our planet. This first book is a primer - a basic text - thus the powerful little exercises sprinkled throughout. His subject is the soul's evolution and the crucial importance of love, personal responsibility and positive intention in the moment to further this process. I encourage you the reader to immerse yourself in the information - the light - presented here. Let it wash over you and see and feel if it is opening you up, reminding you of something splendid that you may have forgotten, reminding you of some unfinished business in your soul's journey.

As for me, it seems I've graduated into a totally new livelihood, completely alternative and that suits me perfectly. All plans for going on vacation and cultivating some sort of normalcy at home have gone out the window yet I am quite grateful and honored for this new development in this life, in this timeframe. And now as I look back, events that did not make sense to me before are beginning to become clear. I can see the sequence, the long chain of choices made in countless moment points that led to this collaboration across dimensions. And maybe it is there, at some point in simultaneous time, where we all can meet to share our personal adventures with this material now that he has returned. I urge you to make that connection. There is strength in numbers and the time is upon us to create our finest, most loving expression of our unique embodied souls.

Some of the practical matters involved in this collaboration may be of interest to readers and so I include them here. I transcribed Seth's dictations into a word processing program on my computer as he spoke through Cas. I also videotaped all sessions held in my office and later used these tapes to cross-check my transcription. We agreed with Seth that for the sake of clarity and flow of material, we would publish this work without the addition of notes and comments. I think that Seth's fine prose style comes through quite well in this format. We are continually fine-tuning our procedures to allow Seth's words to be transcribed and published in the exact form he wishes them to be. MF

INTRODUCTION BY SETH

Let me start by introducing myself. I am the energy personality essence known as Seth and I am no longer focused in the physical realms of the third-dimensional world that you call Earth. Many of you will remember some or all of the many works that I wrote through my first subject. The time has come for me to speak again. It has been many of your Earth years since I have penned any works through one of my human counterparts. I reside in the higher dimensions where there is no time or space as you know it. My form is of etheric matter. I am again presenting some basic truths that you have forgotten, to you, the reader, whom I cannot see. However, as I acknowledge your existence, sight unseen, I would ask that you allow me the same. This material is written to give the reader insights into your reality and stimulate you to question the beliefs and values that you hold. I am making no particular gender distinction when I write in the masculine sense, as soul knows no gender. It is used to encompass all, as this is your language and I will stay within that framework. I am communicating with a different portion of my energy from a different timeframe as you understand it, to facilitate these transmissions to you than I did with my first subject, however all writings are telepathically given by me in much the same manner that I used with him. This material has been delivered through another extension of the Seth energy personality in this timeframe that you are focusing on who goes by the name of Casandra Smith. My desire in this writing was to keep this material formatted as simple as possible, for time as you understand it is coming to a close in this chapter of the evolution of mankind. I have chosen to include the words “God” and “The Creator” which refer to the energy source from which all life is created on your planet. It is the energy source that moves through every living thing in your world. I wish to use language that is more familiar to your understanding of this infinite energy within the broadest spectrum of your societies. These writings do not support or deny any religious groups within the framework of your existence. In the Glossary of the back of this book I will clarify the terms I have used for a clearer understanding.

The awakening of mankind into the unity of consciousness dimension is imminent. The events of 9-11 left many souls on this planet in a state of confusion. Some of that confusion will be eliminated as one reexamines the reality of your world. As always, you have free will to do as you wish in the evolution of your soul. I hope to give you the reader a greater understanding of your nature and the impending shift of the planet and its citizens into the fourth dimension. I wish to make some of the unknown realities a reality to you and show you how to use the powers of your thoughts, beliefs and actions to heal the consciousness of mankind. I am as real as you are, and in reading this material I wish to express my fondest love for you all and hope that what you read will lift you to new dimensions of awareness, bring you into focus with who you are and help you in your understanding of the events of 9-11.

UNDERSTANDING THE SETH ENTITY

There seems to be some confusion as to who I am so I will endeavor to bring a clearer understanding to this phenomenon. One must first begin to look at the Seth entity as a whole. We are a vast and intricate entity communicating at various points in consciousness throughout the multitudinous universes. To begin, I am the same entity that communicated with my first subject yet I am that and more. There are portions of me that are communicating with you that were not present in my earlier communications and vice versa. As you begin to understand that the Seth entity as a whole is responsible for the transmissions and not just one aspect of it, you will start to get a greater understanding of yourself and the vastness of YOUR multidimensional nature.

The name Seth is the communication waveband that we use to interact with humans and other life forms. It is our signal so to speak. There are very few individuals in human form who are able to tune into this frequency due to their particular mental makeup. Since the beginning of time we have been communicating with humans on various levels. My communications with you and Cas are from certain aspects of the greater whole. As I communicate from this aspect of the entity I do not do so singularly but as part of the whole. My function is to bring forth the information from the whole of the entity. For instance, to help you further understand what I mean, let us take you as an example. You would not consider your fingers or toes separate from you, yet they move independently from your hands and feet. They are aspects of your physical structure and part of the whole. Just as all the organs of your body function simultaneously and independently for the survival of the whole, so it is with the entity known as Seth. For those of you who understand this you may see Seth as a channel. It is a channel for communication and it contains the harmonics and vibrations attuned to its specific wavelength to allow for communication.

We are not of the extraterrestrial nature. One cannot tune into the Seth channel unless one is part of the Seth entity itself. This is where some of the confusion has been. There are many extraterrestrials as you call them communicating with humanity at this time. These entities communicate on a universal channel so to speak and anyone who knows how to tune into this waveband can access communication telepathically with them. The Seth entity however is not of this waveband. Our highly specialized network of communication is done within the vastness of the entity itself, for we operate on many dimensional-levels in many solar systems. In order to understand that in itself, one must first have a comprehension of dimensions and multi-universality. For this reason there are not vast numbers of humans in communication with the Seth entity. It is necessary to keep the information from being highly distorted, as it would be if it were to be communicated as the extraterrestrials do. When a portion of the entity is ready, then the communication can begin. With Cas, this portion of the entity had all the components in place and we began transmission. I am an aspect of the same Seth that communicated with my first subject and yet as I said I am more because of Cas' personality structure and mental framework. There are other portions of self involved that were not needed with my earlier subject, yet we are the same.

So just as you as a whole understand your physical oneness yet can see its independence, so it is with the whole of you. You are made up of a vast network of selves all contributing to the whole of you, which I am trying to make you aware of. You are like a finger or toe in the makeup of your greater self. And to take that one step further, your greater self is like a finger or toe of another greater self, which eventually connects to the greater self of All That Is. The Seth entity in its vastness is just a minute part of the energy of All That Is. There has been much confusion as to who I am and when Seth communications are present in your everyday lives through these transmissions. Many of you are still clinging to the idea that since my first subject transcended the physical form that I have ceased to exist as well. Neither he nor myself have ceased to exist and neither will you when you no longer have use for your physical body.

I am still my previous subject's teacher as he is part of the entity yet we are separate aspects of the entity. I continue our communications with Cas at this time since this aspect of the entity was ready and is still in physical form. There is still much to reveal to humanity and that is why I am once again producing books. Although you may find some differences in language it is because this portion of the entity (Cas) does not have the extensive vocabulary that my earlier subject had, however that does not mean that there is less validity to the transmission.

As in all transmissions and over-shadowings, the host body and mind will still filter information through its own vocabulary. I am able to communicate quite proficiently through Cas and have managed quite well to convey my thoughts without confusing the reader. The complexity of the information alone is quite a task to reveal due to your own limitations as to the greater understanding of self and your conditioning, which we will endeavor to undo.

PREFACE

The disturbed energies of a fear-driven society have been taken for granted in your everyday life...

Human beings have been reluctant over the centuries to tune into the telepathically transmitted information that is being given to them. They have essentially put on their cosmic blinders in favor of old superstitious ways. The fear of the unknown has kept their awareness locked in the dark recesses of their minds, pushed aside like leaves on the pathway. They choose to ignore many of the messages that would enable them to complete their soul's evolution. Locked in the grip of fear and anger they flounder around like fish out of water looking for answers to their dilemma. They are besieged with an abundance of negative stimuli from the media. They are then flocking like geese to the nearest psychoanalyst to explain to them why they feel the way they do. Often they are given prescriptions for a variety of medications and sent on their ways. In this great mass of circular logic they rotate in and out of their perceived dilemma until the overload of their behavior finally gets the best of them through disease or illness. The medical profession has taken it upon itself - as is quite fashionable these days - to label these anomalies with syndromes of every type imaginable. Then the patient walks out of the medical office with the assumption that he or she has a justifiable condition and therefore can again push aside the inner voices of their own consciousness for a more narrow-minded answer to their problems. They can then continue on their self-destructive path and be fully justified in doing so. They no longer have to confront their behavior and its source. They merrily take their pills and go on about their daily business. Meanwhile their symptoms once again are pushed aside. This endless circle of behavior eventually catches up to them and they find themselves with another physical malady and so it goes, on and on, one episode after the other. The disturbed energies of a fear-driven society have been taken for granted in your everyday life. The majority tenaciously cling to these ideas and refuse to accept any other explanations that are not grounded in scientific beliefs.

If you would learn to surround yourselves with The Creator's light and energy, you would essentially be able to eradicate the constant barrage of fears that have surrounded you...

Many of you have adopted destructive sets of beliefs, lives filled with ego-gratification, greed and selfishness. This however is not the soul's true nature. If left alone without all of the negative stimuli, the soul would return to a peaceful hum that it has always known. Mankind would be in sync with Mother Earth and the rest of the planetary life that dwells in your dimension. If you would learn to surround yourselves with The Creator's light and energy, you would essentially be able to eradicate the constant barrage of fears that have surrounded you. Love and light, which is knowledge, are the only things that are needed to free you from your path of self-destruction. They will dissolve the layers of negativity like acid on ripe fruit and release your soul's essence from its spiritual slumber. The soul's essence of each and every one of you is trying to pry itself free from the grip of the negative energies surrounding your existence.

Many of you have already been awakened from your spiritual slumber and are diligently participating in moving the rest of mankind into the arena of awareness. Now when I am referring to negative influences or energies, I would clarify here what I am attempting to convey. It is with respect to your ability to allow your ego's desires to control your vehicle instead of your soul's light, as the soul only knows its light and love. It also refers to certain energies in and around your planet that do not serve to evolve with the plan of The Creator.

As you perceive your reality as something that You have created, then you can and will change it for the better. To find oneself, one must look within, for within lies the perfection of God and the Universe that is ultimately - You. Eventually all of you will see the light, if not now then later. For the entities that refuse to evolve and continue on their greedy, self-centered path with no regard for their fellow man, you may find yourself removed from the humming rhythms of the evolving Earth's move into the peaceful fourth dimension and assigned to one of the lower-vibrational, two-dimensional planets until such time as your soul yearns to move towards the light and be cleansed. Like a stone encased inside a mountain, there you will sit and wait until you have had enough time to seek the love light. Now I am not trying to be gloom and doom here, for those entities that are relinquished to this dimension do not in any way reflect the majority of you. Most of you will start soon to get the messages and move towards the light. However, for those of you who persist in the cat-and-mouse game of dominating everyone and everything on the planet, your evolution will not be forthcoming as swiftly as the rest of your planet's citizens and you may be left behind. I have spoken before about how you can change your reality with your thoughts. Since your reality IS your thoughts, this will not be hard to do.

The writings in the following chapters are to prepare mankind for the impending shift of consciousness on your planet and to help you in questioning your beliefs, analyzing your thoughts and opening up your minds to your greater reality. As you awaken you will be opened to a new spiritual kind of existence - a unity with the rest of mankind - and released from your spiritual slumber. A mass continuity of consciousness is about to unfold and the belief systems of the world are in the dawn of an unprecedented historical change.

PREFACE

Many years ago I told you there would be the coming of the third personality of The Christ trilogy. The Christ trilogy consisted of three beings: John the Baptist, Jesus Christ and Paul or Saul as he was also known. Saul and the Jesus Entity have already entered your world as members of your planet's Spiritual Hierarchy and are teaching among you along with several others. However, due to certain systems of probabilities on your planet, The Christ Entity himself has also emerged in your world today as a man. This personality will form a new psychic entity. This entity is now preparing to emerge fully into your world as prophesied as the "Second Coming" of the Christian religion.

That entity as I said will not be coming at the end of your world as you have greatly distorted it, but to guide humanity in your world now. He has returned to set up a new system of thought, to reawaken humanity to its relationships with each other and to realign Christianity as it has greatly distorted the spiritual ideas that were originally to be implemented for the evolution of humanity. He has come into your world as a World Teacher and with him he brings many members of your planet's Hierarchy that will help in the restructuring of your world. He comes as a multi-dimensional personality and will not be oriented in terms of one sex, one color or one race. He will manifest himself at will in many different forms thus exhibiting the multidimensional nature of his being. He will clearly reveal methods enabling each individual to be intimately in contact with their own being and that of The Creator. He will be guiding humanity to use those inner senses of their true spiritual nature and recognize the multidimensional nature of their reality. As humans evolve their awareness, they will be confronted with their actions and memories of all their lives. A great realignment of the relationship with your souls and with each other will be revealed to all. This is happening now and he will soon emerge publicly and reveal himself.
